The floor plan shows a large rectangular building with a complex internal layout. A prominent feature is a large, irregularly shaped room on the right side, colored in a solid teal color. This room has a curved, organic shape. To the left of this teal room is a central area containing a spiral staircase. The rest of the building is divided into various rooms of different sizes, some with furniture like desks and chairs indicated by simple lines. There are several doorways and corridors connecting the rooms. The overall layout suggests a multi-functional space, possibly a school or a community center, with a large open area and several smaller, more specialized rooms.
